

Biography

I was born in Moscow in 1982, and raised in Stockholm (Sweden). I came to the United States in 2001 and have been living in New York since 2004.

Trained as a photographer, my practice has expanded to variety of mediums, through which I thoroughly thread a concept. My artistic practice lies in the interest of social injustice, and personal experience. Through video and photography, I confront issues such as race, identity and class.
